They Did It Again!!

More times than people of our county realize, the volunteer members of the Appomattox County Rescue Squad are out on emergency calls doing their best to help their fellowman, trying to ease suffering, trying to save lives. These are the sentiments of Jim Cobb of Pamplin who tells us that he personally does not think enough could be said to relay his feelings for the Appomattox County Rescue Squad, for the doctors and for the nurses at Lynchburg General Hospital.

On July 19, 1977, Jim's mother, Mrs. Grace Cobb, suffered an acute heart attack and through the efforts of the Appomattox County Rescue Squad she was "kept alive" by means of CPR until they could reach Lynchburg General Hospital where they knew capable doctors and nurses would take over for them.

Jim told us that "on behalf of my mother and myself, we would like to express our appreciation to the Appomattox County Rescue for all they have done. They saved my mother's life and words could not ever express our real feelings."

At the request of Jim and with the permission of Mrs. Grace Cobb, we are reprinting a letter written to the local rescue squad from Mrs. Cobb's doctor, William H. Barney, M.D.

Mrs. Cobb is doing excellent at this time, according to her son, and she is expected to return home shortly. Jim gives all the credit to the Appomattox County Rescue Squad and the excellent care given by the doctors and nurses at Lynchburg General Hospital.

The letter received by the Appomattox County Rescue Squad is as follows:
Appomattox Life Saving & Rescue Squad
Appomattox, Virginia

Dear Sir:

Yesterday one of your units transported a patient of mine, Mrs. Grace Cobb, to Lynchburg General Hospital. Mrs. Cobb had suffered an acute myocardial infarction and was being monitored by the telemetry unit at Virginia Baptist Hospital. Approximately twenty minutes from Lynchburg she went into ventricular fibrillation and she received successful CPR by your unit until she arrived at Lynchburg General where she was cardioverted to a sinus rhythm.

As of now Mrs. Cobb is doing quite well and I want to compliment those members of your squad who operated the CPR team. I did not get to see them before they left the hospital but I think they should know that in my opinion their job was outstanding and saved Mrs. Cobb's life. I have checked the monitor at Virginia Baptist and the CPR was carried out for a total of nineteen minutes and in view of the fact that the patient sustained no brain damage is a testimony to the efficiency of the CPR operation. The members of this unit and your squad is to be complimented for this outstanding work.

Best wishes for continued success.

Sincerely yours,
William H. Barney, M.D.

July 28, 1977

Dear Mr. Vaughan:

On Wednesday and Thursday, July 27 and 28, many of us in the Concord area (and in other locations, no doubt) have been watching those dense clouds of smoke, off 460, wondering just where the fire was. With all the coverage in the newspapers and on TV about the Santa Barbara fire and the loss of property - and nowing how dry the woods and fields are there - perhaps some of us wondered if a shift of winds might bring the fire to our side of Pilot Mountain. Well tonight we finally learned it was controlled burning and there was no need for concern. I think this information should be made known to the public.

Why couldn't the Forestry Dept. furnish your newspaper with a brief note on locations where such burning would be taking place? If the smoke is within view of where I live, I'd like to know about it.

Thank You,
Ruth B. Torbert

CALCIUM HELPS PREVENT BONE DETERIORATION

By: Barbara Morlang, R.D.

Among the problems faced by many aging men and women is osteoporosis. Osteoporosis is a process in which there is deterioration of the bones. The disease affects approximately one in four women and about one in eight men. It is usually revealed by the occurrence of a spontaneous fracture. Sometimes we hear of friends or relatives who fell and broke a hip or leg. Actually many of these individuals fell because the hip or leg broke spontaneously. This is what is meant by a spontaneous fracture. Of the six million spontaneous fractures which occur annually in the United States, about five million are sustained by postmenopausal women. In postmenopausal women, the first symptom may be persistent pain in the lower spine area. Deformities in some 26 percent of women over 60 result in "humps" and loss of height.

There is some evidence that taking too little calcium over a long period of time may lead to osteoporosis. At present we suggest that adults drink two cups of milk per day in order to obtain the recommended amounts of calcium. Cheese and ice cream also supply calcium. One slice of American cheese is equivalent to the amount of calcium in three-fourths cup of milk; and one-half cup of ice cream is equivalent to the calcium in one-fourth cup of milk.

The Pastor Speaks

LIFE HAS MEANING

"For to me to live is Christ." Phil. 1:21

To some of you reading the words "Life has meaning" comes the response - 'but not for me.' This is true for many people. Life has little or no meaning. For many, life consists only of working to make ends meet with a regular routine filled with no enjoyment. Still others are committed to obtain all this world affords, or trying to achieve success in life. Often when one does obtain this goal, they find emptiness, nothing; life seems but a bubble to them. Someone said once that the time man spends here on earth has no more meaning than that of an insect.

Without a personal faith in Jesus Christ, life would lack meaning. Life should always have adventures and goals but often times meeting these goals gives only a temporary feeling of worth and meaning. The search begins then for something with meaning and new goals; a longing to fill the emptiness that life has left them with.

"For to me to live is Christ," holds the key to life with meaning. Jesus changes a person's life style, their values and goals. Man's greatest need is to find a new meaning, a new goal in life. Sin has messed up each person's relationship with God. Only Jesus can forgive sin and transform our lives and give us hope, peace and joy. To be able to say, "For to me to live is Christ" is a purpose in life.

This bit of verse was written by an anonymous poet: "What is life? asked a little child As he romped on a golden day. Out of his life the answer came: Life is play! 'What is life?' asked the sturdy man As he toiled through the sun and rain, And the woe in his heart cried out aloud, 'Life is pain! Life is pain!' 'What is life?' asked the old, old man As he gazed on the stars above, And his wife, wise heart sang joyfully, "Life is Christ! Life is love!"

The remainder of Phil. 1:21 says, "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." The positive help for this life now is a meaningful life and relationship with Christ. Then when death comes, we haven't lost anything. We have gained because we have everlasting life with Christ. When this life is over, we will go to Heaven to be with our Savior. That will truly be wonderful and glorious beyond words. Existence is the portion of every man, but life is all its fullness belongs only to those who have been united to the Savior. Can you say, "For to me to live is Christ"? Life with Christ is an endless hope, without Him it is a hopeless end.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Announced Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ONCE IS NOT ENOUGH

Lesson for August 7, 1977

Background Scripture: Deuteronomy 26; Joshua 24.
Devotional Reading: Deuteronomy 26: 1-10

Rev. Althouse

In the Church of Our Saviour in Washington, D.C. it is not enough to join the church just once. In fact, members join for just one year at a time and every twelve months must renew that decision if they want to remain members of that congregation. The reason for this rather unorthodox approach to church membership is the conviction by this congregation that church membership is very important and is likely to grow cold and vapid without periodical renewal and decision. No one belongs to the Church of Our Saviour simply because they filled out an application for church membership ten, twenty, or thirty years ago.

The Covenant

The Washington D.C. church's unique approach to church membership is founded upon a concept drawn from the Bible: commitments and covenants need to be renewed by conscious choice.

This was the situation that faced the twelve tribes of Israel in the latter days of Joshua's leadership. Decades ago while wandering in the Wilderness under Moses, the people had made their covenant with God: He would be their God and lead them to the Promised Land and they would be his people, worshipping him alone. Now, having occupied the land of Canaan under the generalship of Joshua, each tribe was settled down into its own parcel of the land and the great eras of Exodus and Conquest had ended. In the loose confederacy they had established, each tribe was pretty much going its own way.

"Choose this day..."

Joshua sensed that, preoccupied with the tasks of establishing their separate tribal domains, the people of Israel might begin to forget the covenant they had made during the days of the Exodus. Thus, he summoned them to Schechem and reminded them of their heritage, of how God had brought them out of Egypt, sustained them in the wilderness, and led them into the land of Canaan. He reminded them of their agreement with God and called upon them to renew that covenant by consciously choosing once again whether they would faithfully serve God or the pagan gods of their neighbors. He was not willing to allow them to drift into paganism. If they were going to turn their backs on their covenant, then it must be a conscious choice: "...choose this day whom you will serve."

We all make covenants. Perhaps, instead of assuming that, once made that is all there is to it, we ought to from time to time reconsider those promises and commitments of baptism, marriage, and Christian discipleship. Usually, once is not enough.

REV. CLINTON BROOKS TO OPERATE THE CROSS ROADS CHAPEL

Rev. Clinton I. Brooks has resigned as pastor of Union Hill Baptist Church in Brookneal and will operate a mission at 4007 Wards Roads, Lynchburg. This Mission will be known as "The Cross Roads Chapel" and will provide a place of recreation and facilities for Christian music and entertainment for the Lynchburg area.

In an interview Rev. Brooks said he has felt for quite some time that a place of Christian recreation was needed. Recorded Christian music will be played in the daytime and the building will be kept open as a place to socialize. During the evenings there will be musical presentations by various Gospel singing groups. Rev. Brooks was quick to state that all the singing will not be by professional and semi-professional groups; because he plans to make at least two evenings each week available to the musical talent of local churches of all denominations. Rev. Brooks, who is also a professional magician, known locally as "Sly Ci, the Christian Magician," will also be presenting some one hour Gospel Magic shows from the stage as well as doing some entertaining with Gospel Magic each evening during intermission times.

There are no plans for admission charges, but in order to support this Mission "The Cross Roads Christian Book and Magic Shop" will be operated separately as a business, paying the same taxes and fees as all other businesses. Rev. Brooks will also be supporting his ministry by selling real estate as an Associate Broker with Old Colonial Realty, where his wife Dorothy is already employed as a sales agent.

Rev. Brooks and his wife Dorothy have purchased a home in Lynchburg and plan to move at the end of August.
